SCIENCE
FREE

A year ago today, April 2, 2013, TED.com finalized their decision to segregate Rupert Sheldrake, PhD's TEDx talk "The Science Delusion" from their main database of searchable talks. Sheldrake's talk focused on general dogma and other assumptions in science, more specifically the theory of materialism (the view that all reality is reducible to physical matter including mind, will, humor, emotions, and memory).
